

Q15 What are your main goals when teaching English? (E.g. Communicative competence, to finish the text book, to prepare students' to pass exams, fun etc).

Answered: 28 Skipped: 0

#	Responses	Date
1	Let students get to know the differences between English and Japanese, and provide practical conversation skill.	2/13/2015 11:09 AM
2	to prepare students' to pass exams	2/11/2015 9:29 AM
3	Through teaching English, my students have confidence, which is my goal.	2/10/2015 6:09 PM
4	For communicative competence. But for a while to prepare students to pass exams.	2/9/2015 11:24 AM
5	To let the students have the ability to pass the entrance exam	2/5/2015 7:19 AM
6	To have my students become comfortable in using English. Passing entrance exams is very important at my school so I put most of my effort to develop students' vocabulary and grammar knowledge.	2/3/2015 1:50 PM
7	to prepare students' to pass exams , communicative competence	2/3/2015 9:54 AM
8	Mixed. I think it is very important to take balance among enjoying communication, effective teaching, and pursuing test results .	2/2/2015 1:06 PM
9	My personal main goal is to teach students the basic English, so that they can study further in their future. I teach basics, nothing special.	1/26/2015 2:51 PM
10	In fact the main goal of most of the students here is to leave this school as soon as possible. My main goals are to let them enjoy using English, have them get the minimum capacity of listening and speaking English plus basic grammar.	1/24/2015 10:34 AM
11	To get students ready for re-start studying English necessary for their own purpose.	1/22/2015 7:37 PM
12	To have children experience to know speaking English and communication is fun.	1/22/2015 10:06 AM
13	To grow up students to the level of efficient international businessmen.	1/21/2015 1:37 PM
14	My goal is to make students feel English "closer" to them. I also want them to experience many things through using English so that these experiences may become their "start" to learn English further, on their own, even after they graduate from schools.( even after they graduate from universities)	1/19/2015 9:27 AM
15	Communicative competence	1/18/2015 1:48 PM
16	Cross-cultural understanding	1/12/2015 12:50 PM
17	To give students' the ability, skills and motivation learning English by themselves	1/12/2015 12:43 PM
18	Communicative competence	1/12/2015 12:01 PM
19	To make them feel like that they want to learn more.	1/12/2015 11:54 AM
20	*Children learn 4 skills of English while having fun. (for my own English class) *Children enjoy learning English and broaden one's horizons.(For E.S. classes)	1/12/2015 11:46 AM
21	Develop and enhance students' communicative competence.	1/8/2015 3:34 PM
22	To prepare students to pass exams and to finish the text book	1/8/2015 3:28 PM
23	Finish the textbook	1/8/2015 3:20 PM
24	For the future	1/8/2015 3:14 PM
25	Communicative competence, fun, practical	1/7/2015 5:58 PM

26	Communicative competence. I also try to students to become autonomous(I'm not sure this word is a right one or not) I teach them phonics to be able to read English. After that they take an positivve attitude toward studying Englih. Of course reading isn't an only thing to do so. To aquire a language, students should study it voluntarily.	1/6/2015 10:16 AM
27	To make student have much interest for many culture and the way of thinking.	12/24/2014 1:33 PM
28	Students can express their own feelings and ideas. They can understand each other better and respect differences through learning English.	12/23/2014 8:58 PM