

Q19 Why are ALTs in the classroom?

Answered: 28 Skipped: 0

#	Responses	Date
1	It's important to speak to foreign people in person, to know how they react different way from the Japanese do.	2/13/2015 11:10 AM
2	To assist JET essentially, but in fact many JET leave everything to ALTs.	2/11/2015 9:36 AM
3	They are there for the students to have a chance to communicate with.	2/10/2015 6:10 PM
4	To teach how enjoyable communication with people in different countries is.	2/9/2015 11:27 AM
5	To let the students have the ability to make themselves understood in English	2/5/2015 7:20 AM
6	ALTs give students some motivation to use and learn English.	2/3/2015 1:51 PM
7	students can learn foreign country's culture and authentic English	2/3/2015 9:58 AM
8	To provide something that I cannot provide with students by myself. Mostly about authenticity, diversity, and cultural differences.	2/2/2015 1:09 PM
9	They help me use English in classes. They also helps making good atmospher. I appreciate them.	1/26/2015 2:54 PM
10	This is a tough question. This is our government enterprise. The Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs planned the JET program. One goal is to invite an ALT to visit Japanese students and make them familiar with Native English. Another goal is to let ALT's experience and enjoy Japanese life and have them pro-Japanese sentiments so that Japan will be accepted favorably in the world arena. In schools, we make efforts to accommodate ALT's and help them develop their skills for teaching. In classes we have to talk about lesson plans and make them before the class starts. If cooperation is successful, Team Teaching will bear fruit and will be meaningful.	1/24/2015 11:27 AM
11	because they are supposed to join the class. Frankly, if I had enough competence to teach English through English, I would do it by myself. Of course, some ALTs help me a lot. However, others don't teach English so eagerly but just have students have fun in class.	1/22/2015 8:00 PM
12	To show children the communication in English and to learn native's authentic English	1/22/2015 10:07 AM
13	To tell the students their own culture and get rid of the students wall between the two languages.	1/21/2015 4:37 PM
14	There's no ALTs in elementary schools in Hirakata, Osaka. They're in junior high schools. In elementary schools, Obachan(middle-aged women) like us, who know how to speak English, assist HRTs to do the English lessons. I think ALTs are necessary for the studen	1/19/2015 9:28 AM
15	Chance for children to communicate with non-Japanese, learn the language, communication, culture from them. To help out home room teachers who aren't necessarily familiar with English.	1/18/2015 1:49 PM
16	Because I think they are the fine model of using real English.	1/12/2015 12:56 PM
17	To give students motivation in learning English	1/12/2015 12:44 PM
18	They teach correct English and pronunciation and cultures.	1/12/2015 12:01 PM
19	ALTs are not only for teaching English but also for sharing their culture. As the Chapter 4 says, elementary school students are not required to achieve English language skills. The main reason for ALTs in the classroom would be to teach correct pronunciation and give foreign atmosphere.	1/12/2015 11:55 AM
20	I team-teach with homeroom teachers. But a lot of E.S.s depend on ALTs as they are not confident in English and rarely know how to teach them	1/12/2015 11:47 AM
21	To give students chances to experience natural English and make them more interested in it.	1/8/2015 3:34 PM
22	To have students have opportunities to use English and know or study about foreign culture	1/8/2015 3:28 PM
23	I want my students to communicate with native speakers.	1/8/2015 3:21 PM
24	Students can come in touch with other culture.	1/8/2015 3:15 PM

25	The native assistant language teachers? For native pronunciation and for the students to get used to interacting with native speakers.	1/7/2015 6:09 PM
26	It is a chance for them to know how foreigners are. They want to communicate with him/her. They want to understand what he/she is talking about. And also it is a good chance for them to know how to use English and to know English is a tool to communicate with foreigners. After that many students say they want to study English more to communicate as much as they want.	1/6/2015 10:27 AM
27	To make student speak much English To make student have much interest to another cultures.	12/24/2014 1:37 PM
28	To encourage students to use English. To teach students about different world.	12/23/2014 9:02 PM